Have you addressed your fears today?By Debora GauWe can dream and shudder about Dragons Demons, and Monsters, but these fantasies and nightmares can be given body only by a truly gifted hand. Dore has that gift, and brings to embodiment these denizens of our darkest fears and nightmares! Dore illustrates our thoughts, and does so in a masterful way! An interesting volume depicting a grand cross-section of his work on these themes, a must-have for your Dore collection! The only thing more frightening would be not owning this wonderful volume!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. CaTTNiScause I love it that's why. I guess my previous review did not go through so I am writing another one. great artwork. beautiful.....love love...what can I say mike n catt ^._.^

One of the great book illustrators of all time, Gustave Dore; created richly detailed, brilliantly imaginative scenes of legendary worlds filled with fantastic creatures. This collection of more than ninety illustrations dramatically demonstrates the amazing inventiveness of this remarkable nineteenth-century artist. His fanciful portrayals of sea serpents, fire-breathing dragons, lost souls suffering endless agonies, and scores of other grotesque images were originally drawn for The Bible, Paradise Lost, Don Quixote, The Divine Comedy, and other great works of literature. An excellent reference and an exceptional supply of royalty-free graphics for use by artists and craftspeople, these magnificent illustrations will delight lovers of fine art and anyone fascinated by creatures of myth and fantasy.

About the Author Gustave Dore (1832 - 1883) est un graveur dont les premières lithographies ont été publiées à l'âge de douze ans. Il a très rapidement acquis une reconnaissance internationale. Autodidacte et exubérant, Gustave Dore a illustré entre 1852 et 1883, plus de 120 volumes parus en France, en Angleterre, en Allemagne et en Russie. Décédé en 1883 à l'âge de 51 ans, Gustave Dore repose au cimetière du Père-Lachaise à Paris. Il a laissé une œuvre considérable de plus de dix mille pièces.
