M. Kristina Smith : Lost Sandusky before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Lost Sandusky:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. It is sad to see the state of things and lack of ...By R. BixlerHaving grown up in Sandusky (1947-1966) and having lived during a time when Sandusky was prosperous in manufacturing, social events, schools and sports.For such a small town, It is sad to see the state of things and lack of progress in a once thriving community. I was hoping to find a lot of new information but was aware of almost everything written and do not find it interesting to see pictures of parking lots or new rides at Cedar Point.It will however join my Sandusky collection. Keep writing !!!

SANDUSKY BUILT ITS REPUTATION on the appeal of a picturesque lakefront and the opportunities of a manufacturing hub. Not only did its factories keep pace with the transportation industry, but the Ohio city also boasted the headquarters of international paper maker Hinde and Dauch and enough crayon production to be called the "Color Capital of the World." The amusement park at Cedar Point helped launch a new form of entertainment that continues today. But while the town remains a vacation destination and retains some heavy industry, it misses much of its former glory. Join M. Kristina Smith in revisiting those landmarks of Sandusky's past.
