From Taylor Francis : Making People-Friendly Towns: Improving the Public Environment in Towns and Cities before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Making People-Friendly Towns: Improving the Public Environment in Towns and Cities:

Making People-Friendly Towns explores the way our towns and cities, particularly their central areas, look and feel to all their users and discusses their design, maintenance and management. Francis Tibbalds provides a new philosophical approach to the problem, suggesting that places as a whole matter much more than the individual components that make up the urban environment such as buildings, roads and parks. This informative book suggests the way forward for professionals, decision-makers and all those who care about the future of our urban environment and points the reader in the direction of a wealth of living examples of successful town planning.
