From Routledge : Making the Metropolitan Landscape: Standing Firm on Middle Ground before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Making the Metropolitan Landscape: Standing Firm on Middle Ground:

The American landscape is an extremely complex terrain born from a history of collective and individual experiences. These created environments, which all may be called metropolitan landscapes, constantly challenge students and professionals in the fields of architecture, design and planning to consider new ways of making lively public places. This book brings together varied voices in urban design theory and practice to explore new ways of understanding place and our position in it.

About the Author Jacqueline Tatom was Assistant Professor of Architecture at the Graduate School of Architecture and Urban Design in the Sam Fox School of Design at Washington University in St. Louis. Jennifer Stauber is a practicing architectural and urban designer in St. Louis, Missouri.
