Mark Goulthorpe : The Possibility of (an) Architecture: Collected Essays by Mark Goulthorpe, dECOi Architects before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Possibility of (an) Architecture: Collected Essays by Mark Goulthorpe, dECOi Architects:

Articulating a radical agenda for the rethinking of the basic precepts of the construction industry in light of digital technologies, this book explores the profound shift that is underway in all aspects of architectural process. Essays and lectures from the last fifteen years discuss these changes in relation to dECOi Architects, created in 1991 as a forward-looking architectural practice. This excellent collection is relevant to architectural professionals, academics and students and also to practitioners in many related creative fields who are similarly engaged in trying to comprehend the significance of the import of digital media.

About the AuthorMark Goulthorpe created the dECOi atelier, based in Paris and Boston, in 1991. The practitioners' design calibre was quickly established by winning entries in several international competitions and with awards from various cultural institutions around the world. His collaboration with engineering groups in Europe such as Arup and RFR in Paris extended to collaboration with Foster and Partners to offer creative technical input.
